Pastor Mark Perkins:

Nearly four years ago Front Range Bible Church began hosting Disciple Makers Multiplied events. We have studied the three Panoramas – Old Testament, Life of Christ and New Testament. We have also studied Romans 1-9, Genesis, Women of the Word, and Making Disciple Makers, and with Fort Collins Bible Church Galatians and Colossians. We have been blessed at every event, to say the least.

Our DM2 workshops have encouraged many to step forward and become teachers, including my own son Turner, who is now preparing for ministry at Moody Bible Institute in Spokane. Able substitutes have risen from our ranks, young and old, to teach at several venues both local and beyond, even as far as the mission field. Teachers equipped by DM2 have joined teams in Lviv; Ukraine; Victoria, British Columbia, Canada; Bolivia and Brazil. Their experiences have not only been refining and inspiring for them and their walk with the Lord, but stirring to our local congregation. Locally, we have held women’s workshops, personal Bible studies, and a regular study at Denver Rescue Mission.

It has been our pleasure to cooperate with other churches in Fort Collins, Colorado; Spokane and Olympia, Washington; and encourage many others to go forward with DM2 workshops. Perhaps the best part of all is that these workshops promote the true grace Gospel and spiritual life as revealed in the Bible. The spirit of DM2 is truly to go verse by verse through books of the Bible to see God’s plan and seeing more and more people understand this cohesive biblical message is always exciting. Indeed we are truly blessed!”

Prayer Requests:

Pray for our fall workshop season. We have a round of trainings coming up in several countries and they all need God’s provision of team members and finances. There are also several new opportunities on the horizon waiting to be formalized. Pray for these opportunities to come to fruition.

Pray for churches that are implementing the DM2 curriculum. Pray for other churches that are hoping to get involved in disciple making.

Thank the Lord for those who faithfully pray for DM2.

DM2Pastors

Pastor/Elder Tim Butler

Connections Community Church: Inwood, WV

In April we had the second DM2 conference at our church, going through the book of Galatians. Last summer a team came and presented the Romans' material. As a pastor my desire was to have a clear presentation and explanation of the Gospel presented to as many key members of our church as possible. We are a young growing church in the eastern panhandle of West Virginia, which is fast-growing in population. With rapid growth can come many distorted understandings of God's grace and the Gospel. DM2 has given us the solid foundation of grace. The materials and presenters were able to give clear teaching and put into words the clear Gospel, while lovingly pointing out some of the false things often said when presenting the salvation message. This teaching and understanding has infiltrated all of our teaching and preaching. The DM2 message, which is the Bible's message, has given me a more solid foundation upon which to stand against the distortions of the Gospel so easily seen in the teaching of even the most well meaning Christians. DM2 has had a wonderful impact on me personally and the church as well.

We are now in the process of putting together a team from our church that will help spread the message to other churches in our area. God is good, all the time! Also, without including any names, another thing that struck me was the love and willingness of those on the team to come here to our church at their own expense, from far away, to get this message to us. We gave them a little help financially, but weren't really set up to give a whole lot more. It's amazing to see the desire of these gentlemen to get this message out and see it passed on to others, even if it's one or a few at a time.

Pastor Bradley Maston

Fort Collins Bible Church: Fort Collins, CO

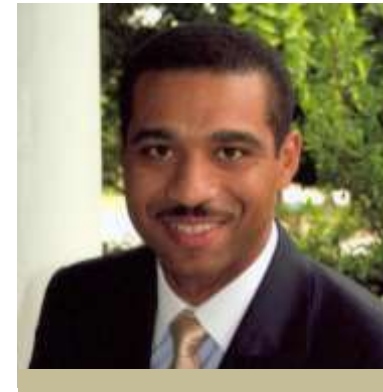

DM2 has had a marvelous impact upon our entire church body. We are so thankful for the sound doctrinal teaching which we enjoy as a part of each seminar. Furthermore, the material is constantly in use in weekly Bible Studies and individual studies at our local church.

We have also been blessed to see growth in our congregation as a result of DM2. We have recognized and equipped several teachers using the DM2 material as a springboard into the increased use of their spiritual gifts. This has been a wonderful blessing as it has trained and given confidence to those who would seek to know the Lord and make him known. The ministry of DM2 has also brought new growth to our body by being a great "onramp" for new and young believers who have joined our fellowship.

Finally, DM2 has given our local church body a growing personal passion for missions and for edification of the body of Christ throughout the world. It has been a tremendous blessing to watch as the body begins to dream, plan and pursue opportunities to take the precious message of God's word throughout the world.

Elder Greg Ventura

Fellowship Bible Church: Greenville, TX

I remember the first time I was introduced to the DM2 curriculum in Tullahoma, TN. It was a session on the Panorama of the Old Testament, just days after my wrist surgery. I say "remember" loosely as I was somewhat medicated and the rate at which the information was flowing was staggering. I believe a good way of describing it would be "drinking from a fire hose." The session was enlightening, easy to follow and revelatory. I also remember speaking with Pastor John at the time about how it would look and be received if we brought it to our church. We agreed the material would be well worth implementing, so shortly after, we began teaching the Old Testament Panorama to our adults during Sunday school.

The three of us who attended the Tullahoma session rotated the teaching duties and we narrowed the fire hose approach down to something more at our own pace. The format remained the same, but the change in pace allowed for more interaction. It also allowed for side conversations about what the Word was doing through the material in the lives of those attending. I've heard numerous times comments like, "I never saw that...", "I like the connection the references make," and even "I don't see or understand the point." I particularly like the last comment as it shows that the material draws people to their own study, further conversations and finally a clearer understanding.

The understanding we would encourage is that of the Word not of our own as Proverbs 2:6 tells us: "For the Lord gives wisdom; from His mouth [come] knowledge and understanding."

To this day, four years and four panoramas later, we continue to use the DM2 curriculum to teach God-inspired understanding to our adult Sunday-schoolers. It is a tool that continues to bring new insight to what the Bible says and a study guide that leads students through their own walk. Not relying on gimmicks or theatrics, though we do enjoy the various animated slides, the material is laid out plainly as not to distract from the Word. Our teaching has followed the original model to ensure consistency. This is intentional in the event any of our students would be interested in participating in teaching sessions with DM2, if an opportunity presented itself. As such we urge the congregation of Fellowship Bible Church to learn and gain understanding to not only replicate that knowledge through the DM2 curriculum but also themselves grow in their love of the Word.

What has the DM2 curriculum meant to Fellowship Bible Church in Greenville, TX? I truly hope that question has yet to be answered as we continue to grow in Him but I would like to say, so far, in a word - impactful.
