Many of you prayed for our March workshop here in Canada, and we're thrilled to report that despite the weather not being in our favor, the workshop was a wonderful success.

We are deeply grateful to the Lord for opening the door for DM2's ministry in Ontario, Canada and for our partnership with Riverdrive Park Bible Chapel. Launching something new is never easy, but your prayers are evident. We still have much ground to cover, but God is opening doors for us to get to know people and share our vision. Pray for housing and students.

Below are some inspiring accounts from the March workshop.

Quinten Crow, 2nd year student, 3DTC Texas

I was blessed with the opportunity to travel to Canada to participate in the Jude conference. The purpose of this conference was not only to teach God's Word, but also to attract potential students to 3DTC, an intensive Bible training program for young adults seeking a strong biblical foundation. It was wonderful seeing familiar faces from my previous visit last summer and meeting many new young people who are excited about God and His Word. We shared wonderful fellowship.

All in all, it was a great weekend, not only because of the clear teaching of God's Word, but also because of our unity around a common faith in the death and resurrection of Jesus Christ for our sins. It also provided me and other young men with the opportunity to sharpen our skills as communicators of Scripture.

Zephyr Tolliver, 2nd year student, 3DTC Texas

Teaching through the book of Jude at Riverdrive Park Bible Chapel was a true blessing for me, and hopefully also for all who attended. So why is this 1-page book I flip through to get to Hebrews important? While it's true false teachers have existed in the church from the start, today their numbers and influence have grown exponentially. According to Pew Research Center, only 40% of professing U.S. Christians are Protestant, and of those, only 46% believe in salvation by faith alone in Christ alone. This means only about 18% of professing Christians understand and embrace a clear gospel, and these numbers continue to dwindle.

Jude strongly rebukes false teachers who deceive believers and lead entire congregations astray. Their primary target has always been the gospel of true grace. Jude provides crucial guidance for identifying and dealing with these threats. If the church fails to protect the purity of the gospel, we lose our primary purpose as the "pillar and support of the truth (1 Tim. 3:15)."

I'm deeply thankful we had the chance to teach through this concise, but powerful book. I pray we'll apply Jude's message faithfully, becoming "doers of the word, not merely hearers (Jam. 1:22)."

Jude's call to action: "But you, dear friends, by building yourselves up in your most holy faith and praying in the Holy Spirit, keep yourselves in God's love as you wait for the mercy of our Lord Jesus Christ to bring you to eternal life (Jude 20-21)."

Ryan Robinson, first time teacher, Ontario, Canada

As a young person, I've struggled seeing myself as a leader. When I was younger, I often assumed I would magically become a speaker. I didn't realize it would be such a hard and long refining process. Back in November when Bret asked if I would be willing to speak at this conference, I thought he was joking. Fast forward two months, and I was at his house preparing to speak. I have had dreams of preaching, but I never had the opportunity. It was a beautiful moment for me to finally be able to respond to the call mentioned in the book of Jude.

During the process of preparing for this weekend, I was reading my Bible so much more thoroughly and frequently. More often than I would like to admit, I have listened to sermons only for things that will stick out to me and have application to my life. Studying for this weekend allowed me to make better application to my life, and more importantly, I gained a greater knowledge of all the reasons Jude said what he said.

According to Proverbs 27:17, iron sharpens iron. Watching Zephyr, Sam, Quinten, and Jason preach was an epiphany for me. Having other believers who present so well was a gift and a challenge to aspire to preach like them.

I'm extremely grateful for the opportunity I had to teach at the 3D Bible conference on Jude this past weekend. I genuinely enjoyed preparing, learning, and reflecting deeply on my topic. I'm especially thankful for Bret and Wanda, who patiently guided me in learning how to teach others effectively.

Growing up as a missionary kid, I've always felt God preparing me for missions. So, when Bret asked if I wanted to teach at the next conference, I immediately knew this was God's calling. Teaching this weekend was a real blessing. The material we used made it easy for first-time teachers—I just had to add my personal insights, and voilà! It made a potentially daunting task very approachable.

I also met so many wonderful people who supported and encouraged me throughout the weekend. The more experienced teachers willingly provided valuable feedback. Special thanks to Rachel Wry, who first invited me to a DM2 conference, opening the door for these fantastic opportunities and new friendships. I'm praying for this ministry and hoping many more young adults will be inspired to share God's Word. Even if your first teaching experience feels small, it's a great place to start serving God.

The Jude conference was an amazing opportunity to hear the Word of God clearly explained. Throughout the day, we studied the purpose, overall structure, and finer details of the book of Jude. I found it extremely helpful in gaining a deeper understanding of false teachers and how to identify them. The teaching was faithful, clear, and thorough. I'm already looking forward to attending another conference in the future.

Your support, prayers, and encouragement mean more than we can adequately express. Thank you for partnering with us as we watch God impact lives through DM2!
