DM2 Update
BRET NAZWORTH

You cannot imagine the excitement we have this month as we look forward to our two teams leading workshops in Africa. Pastor Clay Ward and Tim McClure will be heading out to Sierra Leone. They will be teaching our recently completed Panorama of the Life of Christ curriculum to a core group of pastors and teachers there in Sierra Leone. The other team (David Howard, Larry Depue, and Bret Nazworth) will be going to Zambia. This is the first DM2 trip to Zambia, and while we are not sure what to expect, several hundred leaders from Zambia and the surrounding countries are supposed to arrive for the workshop. By the time you read this letter, both teams will be in Africa; please pray specifically for these teams.

We have two important workshops coming up this November at Pleroma Bible Church (217 Big Springs Avenue, Tullahoma, TN). Join us for these intensive, life-changing studies! RSVP at www.DM2USA.org/form.html

Disciple-making Workshop Nov. 12-14
Our specialized discipleship workshop is structured to equip individuals and local churches to be able to go and make disciples. This course covers the basic principles of Biblical discipleship in the modern world

Romans 1-8 Workshop Nov. 15-17
Taught in an easy-to-replicate format, our verse-by-verse Romans 1-8 course will leave you with the tools needed to be a capable disciple-maker.

Each attendee will be equipped with a student manual, digital copies of the teaching (audio, PowerPoints, notes), and other study tools.

This workshop is free. All meals/snacks will be provided. Transportation to and from the Nashville airport will also be provided.

Attendees will need to secure their own lodging. Discounted rates are available at the Jameson Inn (931-455-7891).

Denver Workshop

PANORAMA OF THE OLD TESTAMENT

Attendee Testimonies:

What a wonderful workshop! It was so much fun to travel through the entire Old Testament in three days! I can't wait to teach it in my living room to my neighbors. I love that it had ways to tie it into the New Testament and it's so easy to get the point. Thanks guys for teaching us!

- Karen Dunning

The first time attending the Panorama of the Old Testament workshop was life changing, and the second time going through it was even more life changing! I felt God's Word being strengthened inside of me to not only have a knowledge of the Scriptures, but have the confidence to be able to disciple others with the truth of the Bible. The men who taught the Panorama of the Old Testament held fast to the truth and were well equipped with the "preparedness" of the Gospel. This shone forth in their teaching. It was an amazing workshop! Anyone who has not yet attended needs to either host a workshop locally or travel as far as they need to attend a one. The truth really is life-altering!

- Miranda Mathisen

It was so exciting to be fully immersed into the Panorama of the Old Testament teaching last weekend! Thank you so much for coming to our church and faithfully providing some new tools to obey the command to disciple both in other countries and even right here in our own "backyard"! I really enjoyed the variety of teachers and how they each brought their own unique teaching styles and backgrounds to the lessons while melding God's Word so perfectly together. I loved being reminded of how important the Old Testament is for our understanding of the New Testament. The Old Testament was what Christ and His disciples knew so well. This workshop helped me clearly see how it connects to the New Testament so that I can add that teaching into our Sunday school. We look forward for opportunities to use this training to encourage other believers in their personal spiritual growth. We are praying that the lost may come to know the absolute truth of salvation by faith alone in Christ alone!

- René Perkins

From the Teachers:

Front Range Bible Church displayed tremendous hospitality in hosting the DM2 Panorama of the Old Testament workshop. The curriculum provides a better understanding of the Old Testament and a clearer picture of the Lord Jesus Christ. The training, though long hours and intense, provides continuity of thinking, scriptural insights, and application for the believer in Christ regarding the Old Testament. Each student is provided with a notebook, copies of the audio lessons, and PowerPoint slides so that he or she is able to replicate the teaching to others.

The Old Testament Panorama teaches God's plan throughout human history; and where we, as believers in the church, fit into that plan. Additionally, it lends to a clearer understanding of the Gospel of Christ, i.e., "He died for our sins and rose again." Pulling this thread from the Garden to the cross, where Christ becomes the substitutionary sacrifice for our sins, brings the entire perspective of His plan into view.

- Brad Rigby

After lengthy planning and preparation, including much prayer, five teachers and a dozen students gathered at our church to acquire a panoramic view of the Old Testament. Over the course of three days and 36 hours, almost the entire curriculum was eagerly taught and studied. The teachers were a diverse lot: Bret Nazworth, president of DM2 from Texas; Carlos Tellez, Bible teacher from North Carolina; Brad Rigby, DM2 regional ministry director and youth teacher from Georgia; Titus Kennedy, from Seattle, WA; and myself, pastor of Front Range Bible Church in Denver, CO.

The variety of backgrounds of the teachers is critical in understanding the flexibility of the DM2 materials. The lessons were easily stepped into by each of the teachers without loss of continuity or momentum. Each 75 minute lesson covered a portion of the history of the Old Testament, combining the historical, prophetic, and poetic books of the period. This chronological approach has the advantage of setting the true panorama of the Old Testament into the minds of the learners. The DM2 learning method is via PowerPoint and a companion workbook, which has blanks to fill in as they are revealed on the PowerPoint. A copious amount of Bible verses are quoted and serve as a useful tool for quoting in the classroom and launching into principles of the spiritual life. Each teacher followed the same PowerPoint slides and curriculum, yet taught with his own personality and teaching style. Although most of the students were local, one attended all the way from Coeur d'Alene, Idaho. Several who attended were not regulars at the host church. The rigorous nature of the course developed a wonderful camaraderie among the teachers and attendees. By the end of the three days, fast friendships had been formed. Remarkably, though taxing, there were no complaints about the challenging nature of the course. If anything, the challenge was an excellent element of the training, motivating the students to go all the way to the end. The benefits are simple: a thorough overview of Old Testament history from the viewpoint of God's plan and a great starting point for further study.

- Mark Perkins, Pastor of Front Range Bible Church

One part Bible class, one part marathon, the recent DM2 seminar in Denver was a time of great learning and fellowship. The seminar, which covered the Panorama of the Old Testament, was fast-paced and kept the interest of everyone attending—even though the sessions lasted from morning until night. The PowerPoint slideshows and notebooks were simply, but brilliantly, designed. By way of the keyword fill-in-the-blank concept, the course required constant thinking and interaction. This kept everyone engaged, and thus provided them with a complete notebook of all the material covered. Each teacher had his own distinct style, and this served to add variety and unique insights. This seminar also showed that the concept can work even in the US, where busy schedules are often the excuse for lack of involvement in church, and a correct and deep understanding of the Word of God is increasingly diminishing. The most encouraging part of the seminar, however, came at the end when a few enthusiastic students expressed the intent to go out and re-teach this material according to the disciple making concepts of Matthew 28:18-20 and 2 Timothy 2:2.

- Titus Kennedy

There is nothing more exciting in the Christian life than to teach others what you have learned. That's exactly what I experienced in Denver, Colorado by teaching on a few of the books of the Old Testament. Additionally, I was challenged by teaching in English, which is not my first language. You learn more when you fully rely upon the Lord in your preparation for teaching others. This is the very reason why I became a regional ministry director with DM2. I love to make disciples, equip them at seminary level, and send them out to make more disciples exponentially. I encourage everyone to attend our workshops. The DM2 workshops not only give you information, but equip you with the digital audio and video recordings, teacher and student copies of the notes, and PowerPoint presentations. Thus equipped, you will immediately be able to prepare yourself and replicate what we are doing. Please keep in prayer the translation, preparation, and teaching of the Panorama of the Life of Christ curriculum in Bolivia this December.

- Carlos Tellez

Update from Michael Turay

SIERRA LEONE, AFRICA

I am so thankful that God is using DM2 to spread His infallible Word all over the world. I am grateful that I am a part of it out here in Sierra Leone. One thing I know, the DM2 training for the pastors will continue to make more impact among our people out here. DM2 training is now a safe haven for a lot of the pastors we are training, especially those who have never had any form of training at all. They are so eager to continue with the training and are looking forward for the October workshop.

About 150 people continue to be effectively trained by DM2. One particular DM2 trainee has already taken his pastor's family and others through the Panorama of the Old Testament course. Another continues to teach his church members in two of his church branches.
