Dear Friends and Ministry Partners,

Thank you once again for your faithful prayers and ongoing support of Disciple Makers Multiplied and the 3D Training Centers. God continues to open doors around the world. Your partnership is helping His word reach some of the most remote places on earth – like Nepal.

Our dear brother Krishna Bhatta recently sent this update from the field:

“Please pray for us as another pastor and I travel into the Himalayas to teach Romans 1-8. It will be a long journey – about 14 hours by motorcycle and another 3 hours on foot. We’ll be teaching leaders from five different churches and need to print about 75 copies of the Romans course in Nepali, so please pray for the financial needs.”

Krishna also shared some practical challenges and praises. Their laptops, essential for translation and course preparation, had stopped working, but God graciously provided a fix. They are now praying for office space in Kathmandu to serve as a ministry hub, which would help their team coordinate the growing work across Nepal.

Thirdly, he shared an encouraging development concerning a youth camp in Dhangadhi, where about 70 young people gathered for three days of teaching through Romans 1-8 and other foundational truths.

In West Nepal, people are coming to Christ through evening house fellowships. After long days in the fields, believers and seekers gather under simple roofs to hear the living word of God. Recently, three new souls who had suffered under demonic oppression came to faith in Christ. Please join us in praying for their continued growth and protection.

Thank you for standing with us – and with faithful national workers like Krishna – as God’s word continues to transform lives and strengthen His church in Nepal. Your prayers and generosity make ministries like this possible.

With gratitude and joy in Christ,

Bret Nazworth, for Disciple Makers Multiplied (DM2)

Quinten and Bella Crow

I (Quinten) grew up in Jasper, TX. I believed the gospel at a young age and grew up in a Christian home, yet during my teenage years I drifted from my faith. My worldview became carnally minded, but God was not finished with me. Through a variety of means, God brought me to a place where I realized I wanted to study His word again, and I ended up at 3DTC where I did that and much more.

I (Bella) have been a believer since I was very young. I grew up in the church my entire life. Despite my household, extended family, and the majority of my friends all being believers in Christ, I had an extremely rocky sanctification experience and was often left to myself spiritually. Zealous like Paul, I thought I had been applying the scriptures to my life correctly, yet I was committing sins and walking away from God in the process. Eventually, a DM2 conference was held at my church, and my entire perspective on how to approach scriptures changed. After being exposed to the literal, historical, contextual, and grammatical hermeneutics, I decided to join 3D directly after high school. Now I have a deep desire to invest in others and follow the command of Christ to raise disciple makers.

(Quinten) Bella and I met and got engaged during our time at 3DTC. Entering the program, neither of us had a vision or passion for full time missionary work or discipleship. But after having attended 3DTC, something changed. We both had a new innate desire to serve the Lord in full time ministry work, we just did not know what that would look like. Then the Lord presented an incredible opportunity before us. We were offered the opportunity to be the administrators of a new 3DTC in Tacoma, Washington. We took some time to prayerfully consider this and decided to move forward with it in faith and became DM2 missionaries. After a semester of learning how to serve in various capacities at 3DTC Texas, we plan on moving to Washington in January to help with preparations for starting the school in August of 2026!

How can you be praying for Bella and me?

1. A strong biblical start to our marriage
2. Logistics for our move to Washington
3. A successful school start-up and students in Washington
4. Financial provision for our ministry and living expenses
